The following is the Report on the property made by Mr. J. D. HUMPHREYS :-

I arrived in Sydney on Saturday, the 13th July last, where I met by appointment Mr. CHARLES WILLMOTT, a mining expert from Victoria. Mr. WILLMOTT has been personally known to me since 1854; I have absolute confidence in his integrity, skill, and judgment. We left Sydney together on Tuesday, the 16th July, and arrived at Mount McDonald on the day following, and commenced our inspection the same afternoon. The Freehold consists of 100 acres of auriferous land in the form of a direct square, each side of which measures 2,087 ft. 6 in., or 695 yards, 2 feet,

The position is to the West of the Eureka Gold Mine, and extends at right 'angles from its own Eastern Boundary in a Westerly direction, across a creek or water course to the opposite range of hills, on the Northern slope of which the greater part of its area lies. The water course which runs through the Freeho'd divides two ranges of auriferous hills, and finally empties itself into the River Luchlan, about three miles to the South of the dem of the reservoir which supplies the battery belonging to the property, situated at Mount McDonald in the district of Carcoar

The Battery liself is to the West of the reservoir, and consequently on the Western side of the creek near the Southern boundary of the proverty, and its size was selected with excellent judgment as quartz can be carted to it or trollied to it not only from all parts of the Freehold itself but from all the workings, in the neighbourhood at little cost. The Machine house, moreover, being close to its water supply, involves no waste of

The Water Supply consists of a reservoir formed by a dam across the creek, and is led by a watershed of considerable extent embraced by the surrounding hills, and I was informed by men who had been working on the ground for years that the supply never failed in the driest season, from which I interred that the rainfall is supplemented by subsoli drainage and springs. For fuel there is abundance of good timber in the The Machinery we found to be of the best description and comprises a first-class engine and two good boilers. There are 4 batteries of 5 head of stamps capable of crushing about 20 tons a day in all, as well as 3 pans, shaking tables, and all necessary machinery for extracting from the ore the greatest amount of gold it will pay to take out. The inspection of the rest of the Freehold was greatly facilitated by the whole of the scrub having been cut down before we arrived, so the estate was laid here and could be viewed from a convenient spot on the bill from end to end. A party of Tribu'ors, at work on the Freehold not far from the battery, was raising ore which yielded over 2 ozs, to the ton at each crushing. The men informed me that they discovered the reef on the surface in walking over the hill after rain, by observing gold in quark at the bottom | Stewardess.

of a cart rut which had been washed clean by the water flowing through it. The old workings are of the most primitive description, having evidently been made by alluvial miners unaccustomed to quarts. The reefs were worked from the surface down without timbering, until it became dangerous to go deeper. None of these workings were any depth, were worked from the surface down without timbering, until it became dangerous to go deeper. It does have the is cortain for it is said and the surface of durings wanted the exist that were mined by men unaccustomed to cope with quartz mining difficult is, The work is of the crudest description and it is evident that as soon as water was reached in sufficient quantity to require machinery, or because the earth began to fall in or become dangerous through being untimbired, the mines were abandoned. This part of the district was, moreover, at the time infested by bands of desperate bushingers who rendered residence there very undesirable. It was a long-time before the Government was able to huntithem down, owing to the nature of the country.

Undoubtedly large deposits of gold, and probable exceptionally rich deposits, will be found when these reefs, which proved so good on the surface, are worked to a depth by quartz mining experts under honest and experienced management, backed by sufficient capital. The ground is already prospected; it is well known where the gold has been got near the surface, and it is only necessary to sink properly timbered shafts and get below these old workings and work up. Some of these shalts will require pumping gear.

As far as I know, it has never been heard of that quartz reefs rich in gold near the surface failed to yield good results at a greater depth. Such reefs have been profitably worked on Bendigo and other places to a depth of close on 3,000 feet, and are still at work after 40 years. Given sufficient Capital economically administered or expended, as it would be in any other business expected to pay. I am of opinion that better results will beobtained from the working of Olivers Freehold Mines than are abtained by 99 mm of roo of the Gold Companies floated in London and elsewhere. Eureka Mine'lles on the Eastern boundary of Olivers Freehold and consists of nevertl Gold Mining Lesses lying between the Queen Mine on the North and the Great Eastern Mine on the South. It will be seen by reference to the map that to the South of the Great Eastern Mine three lots lying on either side of the creek which runs through the Freehold and discharges itself into the Luchlan River have been secured, thus giving to the Company a magnificent water supply,

The new shaft of the Eureka, has been sunk to a depth of 85 feet. The old workings before the miners were fineded out yielded to a depth of 140 feet not less than I az. of Gold per ton, with occasional beiter results. This is recorded in the Government Reports. It is in this mire that the Company's operations will commence by deepening the new shalt by about 120 feet. This shale has been properly timbered as far as it goes and is surmounted by poppet heads in the vicinity of which is a machine house with necessary winding and pumping gear for freeleg the mine from water. All were in good order and fit to commence work when inspected.

The further sinking of the shaft is not through difficult ground and the cost of labour and properly timbering will be only about £6 per foot. When decouned, sufficient tunnels will be driven to the North and South and the reef will be worked upwards, which is the most economical plan. The amount of water to be dealt with of course increases the cost of mining and renders it impossible for ordinary working miners to develop such properties on their own account, but it is not disadvantageous for those having means in a country subject to drought.

One of the drawbacks to the development of mining in the district has been that there was no proper accommodation for miners of the better class with their wives and familier, and it is proposed to build a few comfortable cottages to induce this class of men to settle on the property. The operations of the Company will at first be limited to deepening the Eureka new shaft and driving tunnels through the reef. It is confidently anticipated that this mine being taken over in a wirking condition will pay expenses from an early date and within a short time win good results. map of the mines, is attached and also a map of New South Wales showing Railways and the direction of the Recis maning through the property with the position marked of some of the principal mines :--

NOTES AND COMMENTS. We have received from the proprietor of the Kokumin-No-Tome, a well-known Japanese periodical of that name published in Tokio, a prospectus of The Far East an English edition of the Komumin-No-Tomo to be published monthly, and which will be mailed to all subscribers within the Postal Union for a subscription of 81.50 per annum. It is intended that the first number shall appear on the 20t February next. We have much pleasure in making the announcment and wish our [1701 able and enterprising contemporary every magazine will not only pay, but be an acquisition to the periodical literature of the East. It was established as a monthly in February 1887. A little later it tried its fortune as a semi-monthly (We are not quite sure of the meaning of this latter word. It seems to us ambiguous) Lastly-it-appeared, and has pillaging of the German Mission station at continued to appear, weekly. It has been | Mollin (near Swalow) have been brought to a financially a success and has earned for itself a very high position from a literary point of view. From the same office and under the same management have successively appeared the Kokumin Shimbun, daily paper, and the Raid-Sashi, a family paper, first a monthy and then a fortnightly, and all in great demand. The new monthly, The Far East, has secured a very considerable number of English contributors as well as Japanese writers of English of great eminence. We conclude this notice with one or two extracts from the prospectus, showing the scope and objects of the periodical in question and the motives that have influenced the Proprietors to add to their popular publications another in the English tongue:-

Through her brilliant success in the war with Chins, Japan has attained a new position among Messrs, Sauder & Co. No. 1110 Praya Central of view, the issue of the recent struggle being 1 1650 only a manifestation of the latent force, moral and material, which Japan had heaped up for years we see no reason to be specially elated by But it was only after the event that the outside world recognized Japan as an important factor in international development and progress. Again, almost contemporaneously with the Japan-China war, the long-cherished hope of ticaty revision between Japan and western countries began to be realized. Several of the Powers have already consented to give up the one-sided privileges acquired by the old treaties, and there is no doubt that in a few years this Empire will stand on a footing of equality, and reciprocity with all the civilized states of the world. In this respect, too, we may say the position of Japan is unique so far as non-Aryan nations are concerned. These reasons, concurrently with the fact that the Far East is becoming a scene of keen rivalry among the Western Powers, have caused the eyes of the world to be turned on Japan with greater attention than ever before. This being the case, we must be fully prepared to meet the new circumstances in which we find ourselves. At this juncture it is as desirable that lapan should strive to make herself known to the outer world, as that the world should seek for means of knowing her. We are glad to acknowledge that much of what is written concerning us is good in its own way. But one can learn from these sources only what allens think of us. For a thorough understanding of our country and people it is desirable that foreigners should also know what the Japanese think of themselves and of the world at large, At any rate we urgently feel the necessity of speaking out for ourselves. To do this fa our own language would be of slight avail, the Japanese written characters being familiar to only a few foreignets. Hence we venture to start The Far Bast as an English edition of the Kohumin-no-Tomo (The Nation's Friend) through which to explain ourselves to the great public beyond the seas. It is not a very thankini task to be obliged to write in a strange tengue. But as the thing moods to by done, we have decided to do it; and care shall be taken to secure the utmost accuracy of style by enlisting the aid of foreign experts in English

The leading feature of The Far East will

(1) Politics, industry, commerce, military and will be discussed, with the object of showing the past history, present condition and future prospects of the Japanese national life.

(2) Each number will contain a survey of current events in, and relating to, Japan and the Far East. (3) In editorial articles deliberate opinions will be pronounced on important questions of the time, and the foreign relations of Japan will receive special attention. (4) A large space in each number will be assigned to contributions mainly by Japanesa writers. Foreign contributors, however, are not excluded. (5) Our columns will be open to correspondents, both foreign and Japanese, the power of selection remaining with the Editor.

Other features will be added from time to time, always with the same design. To be an exponent of the national aspirations of Japan is the sim which we shall always keep in view in conducting The Far East.

It is said by the native paper that although this post of Chinese Minister to Russia is held by Hsu, the Chinese Minister to Germany, the Chinese Government are desirous of appointing a special Minister to Russis, and Wang has been selected to fill the vacancy. THE INCREASE OF THE NAVY. According to the Budget, a sum of 94,979,685 yen is to be spent during the seven years begingoes well, make a running survey of this great | ning with April of the present year for purposes of nevel extension, independently of ships already in course of construction. The amount is to be voted as a continuing fund spread over that length of time. The sum asked for the coming fiscal year to this department 22,251,294 yen, of which 12,749,467 yen is be expended for the construction of new ships, 7,747,520 yes for the manufacture of arms, and 1,759,294 yen for building. The manufacture of srms is to be completed in the 34th fiscal year, namely, 1001, and it demands altogether an outlay of 33.751,162 yen. The building undertaking—to be finished in 1902—is to cost of war-vessels, it is to be completed in 1902, the whole cost being 47.154.576 yes. As in the case of the Army, so in the case of the Navy, it is not yet possible to make any definite statement with regard to the exact degree of increase contemplated by the Government. Some persons state that the object of the present programme is to raise the total displacement of the Navy to, 200,000 tons during the period mentioned above.

> THE INCREASE OF THE ARMY. From the Budget for the 20th fiscal year of Melit, a résumé of which has already been published, it is impossible to ascertain the limits to which the Army is to be increased. When the Budget comes before the Budget Committee, the members of the latter will no doubt be placed in presession of full particulars about the contemplated augmentstion and the public may then obtain information. For the present, we must be contented with vague suppositions based upon the financial aspects of the matter. Of the amount demanded for the Army In the Budget for the coming year (yes 15 00 (,201), the items. constituting "the already fixed expenditures" aggregate 12.558,109 yen. Of the remainder, 11.037 yes are required on account of the newly says :created beacquarters of the coast defence garrisons of the Ki-tau Channel, the bendquarters of the Commander-in-Chief of the Defences of Tokio, and so forth, and the final residue, 2,416,820 yes, is to be spent on increav ing the troops and extending the scope of the various offices and colleges under the War Department. According to the present scheme. the numerical increase of the military forces is to be completed by 1015; when the total expenditure on account of the Army will be 25,996,399 yen, or a little over twice the present ontlay. From this circumstance we may infer that the strength of the Army will be about doubled in the next ten years.

THE IRON FOUNDRY BILL. According to the Iron-Foundry Bill, an appropriation of 4,005.793 yes is to be voted as a continuing fund, spread over four years, beginning with the coming fical year. The scape of the works is to be sufficient to turn out 60,000 tons of steel of various kinds per annum; or less than one half of the total quantity (130,000 tons) required in the country each year The staff employed at the works is to be composed of a Director, a Chief Engineer, two

The following interesting particulars of the experiences of the long missing British steamer Rosary are taken from the Japan Advertiser of the 6th instant :--

"ROSARY."

The British steamship Rosary, which was given up as lost at one time, last month, arrived at Yokohama last Sunday morning, and Capt. Bond, her commander, has since described the perilous voyage he had in the vessel after she lost her propeller on the night of Nov. 26th. She left Shiogama on Nov. 25th at 5 s.m.; and on the following night at 12.20 s.m., in fine weather, and the entire propeller fell off. He went ashore in a N.Y.K. lighter with the 8 Japanese that made up its crew and the craf capsized, all on board being lost and none of the bodies recovered. Mr. Wiseman was only 28 years old, held a master's certificate and belonged to Woburn, Bedfordshire, where his mother and sisters now reside. The Chinese crew ran out of food when the vessel was two days out, and shared half rations with the officers the rest of the trip. At Shiogama Capt. Bond again tilted his ship by filling the fore-hold with water, and put on the new propeller, with which he steamed down with a cargo of coal to Yokohama. He has since sold the vessel to Japanese.

RUSSIAN BON MOTS.

The Russian papers have lately been pegging away at the English and everything English and indulging in threatening language which has not been justified either by circumstances or facts. The semi-official organ, the Mescow Visdimosti, gives utterance to some exquisite bon mois thusly :-

"We do not know whether such a treaty has been concluded, although we hope it has, but we may quiet the English press, while at the same time disabusing it of the notion that Germany and France would be displeased with the alleged

"The English have really nothing to fear. If the treaty has been concluded, it is not at all directed against England. The building of a Russian rallway in Manchuria does not in the least threaten English interests, and would simply facilitate our own commerce with China. The opening of Port Arthur to our warvessels would of course give us a great advantage, but we fall to see how English-Chinese commerce can possibly be injured thereby, provided, as we hope, England does not harbour aggressive intentions which might be thwarted by our Pacific fleet. In time of peace, then, we see no danger to England. As for the situation in times of war, Russia would simply be in a position to defend that which is already hers. Surely we have the right to provide for our safety! Then why these exclamations of astonishment at our efforts in that direction?

"As regards the anticipated protest of Germany and France against the treaty, no such protest, we venture to assort, will be forthcoming. France is too closely related to us diplomatically to obstruct us in a matter of which she was doubtless fully informed at the proper time, especially since her own interests are attacked by the unjustifiable occupation of Egypt by the English. Germany has an opportunity similar to ours to improve her position in the Pacific Ocean, and is concerned rather with the question of putting an end to British supremacy in the Far East. Neither country will interfere to deprive. Russia of the benefits the alleged treaty would confer.

is-a long way. But we have no occasion to trouble ourselves about her protest. It is not enough to object; it is necessary to support one's objection, which England, in her present isolated condition, is wholly incapable of doing. It would be rather dangerous for her to take any practical step, and if such a senseless course were decided upon, she would be the first to repent, as all the disadvantages of the inevitable complications would fall chiefly on her."

The Novosti, the leading Liberal organ in St. Petersburg, adopts a more moderate tone. Being great admirer of English institutions, it remonstrates instead of bragging and threatening. It

"The English press has been presenting spectacle to the world which is totally unworthy of it as the organ of public opinion in the most enlightened country. . . .

"We are thristen d with ward indeed war has been declared as inevitable. Why? Simply because Russia together with France and Germany-bas-been-protecting-in-the-Far-East the interests of Europe in general. Any attempt on our part to improve our marine commercial conditions is instantly construed as a cases belli. Where, pray, is the justice of it, where the common sense? A serious quarrel with England is not to be thought of, of course, in Russian diplomacy. Such an event would be great misfortune, and must be averted. Bu there are limits to the most yielding and patient attitude, and English politicians and journalists should hear this in mind. If England considers berself a great civilised power, she must prove it by her acts. Her present foreign policy is the reverse of civilised." Long live the Tear of All the Russias ! ! !

A HONGKONG HANDICAP ON BRITISH SHIPPING.

The following is the letter of the China Association (Shanghai Branch), which we were obliged to hold over last night :--

CHINA ASSOCIATION, Shanghal Branch, 13th Dec., 1895. SIR,-Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, managing agents of the China Navigation Company, Limited, have called the attention of the Local Committee of the China Association to an Ordinance drafted by the Government of the Colony of Victoria, Hongkong, intended to impose regulations upon the carriage of passengers between the ports in China now open to foreign shipping; and the matter having been deliberated upon by the Local Committee, I now have the honour to address you upon the subject.

The Local Committee, on receipt of Messrs. Butterfield & Swire's letter, were unwilling to accept as correct the assertion that the Colonial for the proposed exactment; and the Local Government could establish regulations applicable to British vessels beyond the port of Hongher propeller was lost-dropped off hoss kong; and they took the precaution to ask Her and all, though the pla holding it remained on I Majorty's Acting Consul-General for information another colony, where we all hope you will the shalt. The Local Committee consider it their duty to place their views before you for the purpose of securing your support in representing to the Colonial Government the unfairness and prejudicial charecter-oflegislation which is not necessary; which has not been suggested by complaints of passengers; and against which it is believed that every British Consul, conversant with the coast passenger trade as now carried on, has expressed a decided opinion. The views of the Local Committee are in conformity with those of the Agents of the China Navigation Company, which are shared in their entirety, and the Local Committee is authorized to so inform you by Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Agents of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company, and are to the effect that if these regulations be enacted it is quite certain they will be honestly and strictly enforced by British officials and conformed to by British shipowners; while prolonged experience has shown that, as in the past, so in future. such regulations will not be enforced or observed by the officials and shipowners of other nationalities. The inevitable result of this will be to exclude British shipping from the passenger trade between Chinese ports. Competition with other flags in now very severe; and while no doubt exists that competing on equal terms British shipping is quite able to maintain the position it at present occupies, yet, if burdened with the expenses and delay, and the inspection procedure, which Chinese passengers intensely dislike, involved in complying with the regulations, it is obvious British ships cannot contend successfully with vessels against which these regulations, however much they may theoretically apply, are not enforceable. Passage rates are very low, but the earning from this traffic in Chinese waters is a valuable portion of the income of steamers, and its loss will eventually result in the loss of the whole trade. Assuming the acceptance by all other Governments, inclusive of those of China and Japan, i is far from difficult to demonstrate why such regulations would become inoperative against all but British vessels. Chinese steamers now perform about one-fourth of the whole carrying trade between the treaty ports of China; and it it merely necessary for the Local Committee to assess, without qualification, that no penalties could be enforced against Chinese vessels infringing the regulations, notwithstanding the assent of the Chinese Government to the regulations themselves. Japanese vesels are more amenable to rules enacted or sanctioned by their Government and the Local Committee will not go so far as to say that vessels of this nationality "Of course England, prompted by a narrow | could entirely evade the regulations: but egolsm, may protest, although from wish to action | when it is known that the share of Japan in the coast trade is less than threefifths of one per cent. of the whole, the temptation to increase that share by a lax administration of regulations tending to prevent its expansion would be too great to be i resisted. Forther illustrations of the certainties of failure in the enforcement of regulations against the shipping of other nations than Great Britain are not necessary; those cited are sufficient to prove that until there exists at all Chinese ports a judicial authority strong and honest enough to enforce the regulations upon all nationalities alike, such regulations, if enacted, must operate most unfairly and practically against British

The extent of the carrying trade between the treaty ports of China having been alluded to, it is proper to explain that in the year 1894 the total of inward and outward clearances was 21,086,000 tons, of which 15,045,215 tons, or 68 4 per cent., were British, 5,262,741 tons, or 24 o per cent. Chinese: leaving for the vessels of all other nationalities 1,678,044 tons, or 7.6 per cent. These figures are cited as evidence of the results of British enterprise and of its power to compete with every form of governmental support accorded by subaldles, monopolles, and privileges to vessels of other flags; it seeks no legislative enactments in its own favour ; all the British shipowner asks for, and all that the Local Committee advocate is that there shall be
